Open letter from media and press freedom organizations on Gaza access

We, the undersigned, call for immediate, independent, and unrestricted international media access to Gaza and for full protection of journalists who continue to report under siege.

For 20 months, the Israeli authorities have refused to grant journalists outside of Gaza independent access to the Palestinian territory – a situation that is without precedent in modern warfare. Local journalists, those best positioned to tell the truth, face displacement and starvation. To date, nearly 200 journalists have been killed by the Israeli military. Many more have been injured and face constant threats to their lives for doing their jobs: bearing witness. This is a direct attack on press freedom and the right to information.

We understand the inherent risks in reporting from war zones. These are risks that many of our organizations have taken over decades in order to investigate, document developments as they occur, and understand the impacts of war.

At this pivotal moment, with renewed military action and efforts to resume the flow of humanitarian aid into Gaza, it is vital that Israel open Gaza's borders for international journalists to be able to report freely and that Israel abides by its international obligations to protect journalists as civilians.

We call on world leaders, governments, and international institutions to act immediately to ensure this.

About the Committee to Protect Journalists

The Committee to Protect Journalists (CPJ) is an independent, nonprofit organization that promotes press freedom worldwide. We defend the right of journalists to report the news safely and without fear of reprisal.

For media queries, please contact press@cpj.org.

About Reporters Without Borders (RSF)

Founded in 1985, Reporters Without Borders (RSF) is an independent international organization that works to defend and promote press freedom around the world. Active in more than 160 countries, RSF acts daily to protect threatened journalists, fight censorship, expose violations of the freedom to inform, and promote ethical and independent journalism. The organization publishes the World Press Freedom Index every year, which has become an international benchmark, and carries out fieldwork, legal actions, and diplomatic efforts. It holds consultative status with the United Nations, UNESCO, and the Council of Europe.
