

Committee to Protect Journalists

Sent via email

Date: 9th March, 2026

To
Shri Suvendu Adhikari
Leader of the Opposition
West Bengal Legislative Assembly

Subject: Strengthening press freedom and journalist safety in West Bengal through electoral commitment

Respected Shri Adhikari,

As West Bengal prepares for the upcoming state assembly elections in a few weeks, the Committee to Protect Journalists (CPJ), an independent, nonprofit press freedom organization, respectfully urges your esteemed political party, Bharatiya Janata Party, to include a strong commitment to press freedom and the safety of journalists in your election manifesto.

A free, independent, and safe press is indispensable to a vibrant democracy. However, journalists across India — including in West Bengal — face increasing threats to both their physical and digital security. Intimidation, harassment, surveillance, censorship, and restrictive regulations undermine the press's ability to operate independently and to serve the public's right to information.

The Bharatiya Janata Party has, time and again, raised concerns regarding press freedom and the safety of journalists in the state. In this context, a clear and explicit commitment in your party's election manifesto to safeguard journalists and uphold press freedom in West Bengal would be a significant and welcome step.

Key areas of concern:

Legal safety: Journalists sometimes face legal actions, bureaucratic pressure, or procedural intimidation, which can restrict their ability to report freely.

Digital safety: Expansive laws and regulations can enable censorship, surveillance, and forced content takedowns, endangering journalists' work and privacy.

Physical safety: Journalists continue to face intimidation and, at times, violence, particularly while covering political events, protests, or elections.

CHAIR
Jacob Weisberg

CEO
Jodie Ginsberg

VICE CHAIR
Lydia Polgreen THE NEW YORK TIMES

DIRECTORS
Rebecca Blumstein NBC NEWS
Diane Brayton THE NEW YORK TIMES
Gary Briggs
Sally Buzbee REUTERS
Phil Chetwynd AGENCIE FRANCE-PRESSE
Susan Chira
Sheila Coronel COLUMBIA UNIVERSITY

Caolifhionn Gallagher
DOUGHTY STREET CHAMBERS

Alessandra Galloni REUTERS

Lester Holt NBC NEWS

Roula Khalaf FINANCIAL TIMES

Jonathan Klein GETTY IMAGES

Peter Lattman EMERSON COLLECTIVE

Kati Marton

Michael Massing

Katherine Meeks FOX NEWS

Geraldine Fabrikant Metz THE NEW YORK TIMES

Graciela Mochkofsky
CUNY CRAIG NEWMARK GRADUATE
SCHOOL OF JOURNALISM

Alan Murray
WSJ LEADERSHIP INSTITUTE

Julie Owono
INTERNET SANS FRONTIÈRES and META OVERSIGHT BOARD

Julie Pace THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

David Remnick THE NEW YORKER

Maria Ressa RAPPLER

Maria Teresa Ronderos

Jacqueline Simmons BLOOMBERG

Nika Soon-Shiong DROP SITE NEWS

Roger Widmann

Jon Williams

The John S. and James L. Knight Foundation
Press Freedom Center
P.O. Box 2675
New York, NY 10108
Phone: +1 (212) 465-1004
Fax: +1 (212) 465-9568
info@cpj.org

Committee to Protect Journalists

Financial and regulatory pressures: Independent media outlets are vulnerable to punitive tax actions, bureaucratic hurdles, and funding restrictions that threaten editorial independence.

Access to information: Barriers in obtaining timely government responses, participation in official briefings, and the effective use of RTI limit the ability of journalists to inform the public.

Suggested commitments for inclusion in the election manifesto:

- Guarantee protection from harassment, detention, and violence, ensuring the physical safety of journalists.
- Safeguard digital rights by protecting against unlawful surveillance, censorship, and arbitrary removal of content.
- Uphold editorial independence by opposing laws or actions that restrict reporting and investigative journalism.
- Promote transparency by facilitating fair and timely access to government information, press briefings, and RTI responses.
- Ensure fair, transparent, and safe working conditions for journalists across West Bengal.

Incorporating these commitments into your party's manifesto would strengthen democratic institutions in West Bengal and reaffirm a commitment to protecting press freedom and the public's right to information.

We would be honored to engage further with you or your policy team to discuss these recommendations in detail.

With utmost respect,

Kunal MAJUMDER
Asia-Pacific Coordinator
Committee to Protect Journalists